SherBIZ News

Week 4 . July 2025

Dear

Last week, a new client stopped me in my tracks with their story.

This creative agency lost a music contract with Katy Perry. Not because they lacked talent. Not because they failed to deliver. Because another company owed them £150,000.

Years of reputation building. Countless creative hours. A career-defining opportunity. Gone.

This is the brutal truth about unpaid invoices: they don't just drain your bank account. They steal your future. The contracts you can't bid for. The growth you can't fund. The opportunities slipping away while you chase what's already yours.

But here's what too many businesses don't realise: You don't have to accept this.

Let's change the game.
